He Got the Dried Apples.

The vice president of the Red Cross, American branch, Mrs. J. Ellen Foster, tells an amusing story of "Our Teddy," while in Santiago. He appeared before the headquarters one day with a moving request for some delicacies for his men. His appeal met with the reception it deserved, and he was promised that the next carload should contain some of the luxuries craved. His meaning had apparently not been grasped, and he hastened to explain that the luxuries nominated in the bond were no other than dried apples, so that the Rough Riders could have some "sass like their mothers used to make." Much amused the committee promised he should have all the dried apples he could use on the next trainload. Still, he was unsatisfied. He wanted the apples, but he wanted more—he wanted them at once. "But, surely, Colonel Roosevelt, you don't want to take them yourself." "Yes, I do," answered the gallant colonel. The last seen of him he was mounted on a horse galloping back to his cavalry, his coat decorated with stripes and "fixins" and over his shoulder a huge bundle of dried apples. The lines between the pathetic and the humorous are often closely drawn as in the present case.—Criticism.

Napoleon, France's greatest general, regarded mankind as a box of tools with which he erected his temple to ambition and France's glory.

MRS. PINKHAM TALKS TO THE FUTURE WOMAN.

Will the New Generation of Women be More Beautiful or Less So? Miss Jessie Ebner's Experience.

A pleasing face and graceful figure! These are equipments that widen the sphere of woman's usefulness. How can a woman have grace of movement when she is suffering from some disorder that gives her those awful bearing-down sensations? How can she retain her beautiful face when she is nervous and racked with pain?

Young women, think of your future and provide against ill health. Mothers, think of your growing daughter, and prevent in her as well as in yourself irregularity or suspension of nature's duties.

If puzzled, don't trust your own judgment. Mrs. Pinkham will charge you nothing for her advice; write to her at Lynn, Mass., and she will tell you how to make yourself healthy and strong.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound strengthens the female organs and regulates the menses as nothing else will. Following is a letter from Miss JESSIE EBNER, 1712 West Jefferson St., Sandusky, Ohio. "DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to let you know of the great benefit your remedies have been to me. I suffered for over a year with inflammation of the ovaries. I had doctored, but no medicine did me any good. Was at a sanitarium for two weeks. The doctor thought an operation necessary, but I made up my mind to give your medicine a trial before submitting to that. I was also troubled with leucorrhoea, painful menstruation, dizziness, nervousness, and was so weak that I was unable to stand or walk. I have taken in all several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and am now in good health. I will always give your medicine the highest praise."

Handling Dead Letters.

Eight hundred and twenty-two clerks find employment in the Postoffice Department, of whom 177 are women. Their salaries range from $900 to $1,800 a year, and they are engaged in clerical work and copying. The most interesting division of the department is the dead letter office, where about 125 women are employed. Twenty thousand undelivered letters are received here every day. Each clerk is expected to open 250 letters each day, and as many more as she can handle. A record of the daily number examined by each one is kept, and credit for proficiency awarded. Letters containing checks and money are given special attention, and are returned to the sender if any address can be found; if not, they are recorded and placed on file to await application. Those containing money may be reclaimed in four years; after that time elapses they are sent to the treasury of the United States, and are often identified and reclaimed after many years. Letters containing no inclosures are returned to the writers if they contain the address; otherwise they are not preserved and no record is kept of them. There is a museum of unmailable articles that have been taken from the mails; its shelves contain every imaginable sort of things, as diverse in character as a washboard and a skeleton.—Woman's Home Companion.

PRACTICAL KINDNESS.

One Hundred Thousand Grateful Soldiers.

These war times have tried men's souls in many unexpected ways, but like a shaft of sunshine and good cheer out of the cloud of privation and endurance has been the work that The American Tobacco Co. has done among the U. S. soldiers and sailors ever since the war began—for when they discovered that the camps and hospitals were not supplied with tobacco they decided to provide them, free of cost, with enough for every man, and have already given outright to our soldiers and sailors over one hundred thousand pounds of "Battle Ax Plug" and "Duke's Mixture" Smoking Tobacco, and have bought and distributed fifty thousand briar wood pipes, at a total cost of between fifty and sixty thousand dollars.

This work has been done quietly and thoroughly, by establishing headquarters in each camp so that every camp and every hospital of the United States army has been supplied with enough tobacco for every man and the sailors on thirty United States ships in Cuban waters have shared with the soldiers this most welcome of all "rations."

Vegetarian Colony.

At Oranienburg, near Berlin, a colony of vegetarians was started some years ago, and is growing slowly but steadily. Founded in 1893 by seven enthusiasts on the subject, there are at present forty-seven homesteads, the abodes of thirty-seven families and ten single men. In addition to the vegetables necessary for their own food they have planted 35,000 fruit trees and 15,000 berry bushes.

the entire property with a large of hazel nuts.

Human Bones in a Log.

The bones and teeth of a human being, together with a lot of broken glass and crockeryware, were recently discovered in a mammoth hollow log in Wakulla County river swamp by John Jones and Aquila Nails, who were there for the purpose of getting out timber. A similar discovery was made at the same spot some eighteen years ago.

COLLISION ON UNION PACIFIC

One Freight Crashes Into the Rear of Another.

The third section of freight train No. 18, on the Union Pacific, ran into the rear of the second section at Alda at an early hour the other morning. Conductor Hansen took a siding to let a passenger train, No. 5, pass. The third section, Conductor Kirsch, was under the impression he would run to Grand Island and did not observe the slacking of the second section soon enough. A rear-end collision resulted. Six cars were demolished; also the engine of the third section. Engineer Roddy of the third section was badly injured. His leg must be amputated, and some fears are entertained that his injuries are fatal.

Good Creamery Business.

In spite of the deteriorating effects of dry, hot weather and an unusual onslaught of flies that worked together to cause a bad effect upon the flow of milk throughout the month of August, the Schuyler Creamery Company succeeded in doing a business satisfactory and pleasing to its many patrons, $1,480.83 being paid out for 9,873 pounds of butter fat. The supply of milk, 264,599 pounds, having been obtained from the parent plant at Schuyler, 96,000 pounds from the skimming stations, Octavia, 48,483 pounds; Draper's Bridge, 81,696, and No. 3, 38,521, four stations in all, made the running expenses relatively disproportionate with those of a station that would have skimmed the entire 264,599 pounds, else fully $100 more could have been paid out. There is a growing interest in dairying business in that section.

Hurt by Horses.

Two Hastings men were badly injured by horses the other day. W. P. Burkee fell from his hayloft to the ground and became tangled up between the feet of his horse. The animal became frightened and before Mr. Burkee could secure help the horse had succeeded in breaking Mr. Burkee's collar bone. About the same time a young man named Hansel had a runaway, in which he was thrown from his vehicle and received serious injuries from the hoofs of his frenzied horses. Besides being badly bruised up about the body, his nose was broken and his head was so badly cut up that it took several stitches to patch it up.

Key Concealed in a Ring.

A Cincinnati but lately returned from England tells of a rather novel innovation in the way of locks and keys, or to speak more correctly, key.

At a country place he visited he was surprised to see his host unlock the gateway of the place with a small key that in some mysterious way was produced from a large seal ring he wore. Yet the ring was not large enough to be conspicuous by reason of its size or style. As he expressed some surprise in the matter, his host said:

"This is a master key. You see, it slides under the set in the ring, and occupies no space whatever. It will unlock every lock about the place, even my dressing bag, my trunk, my bond box and wine cellar."

He was asked as to the arrangement in general; whether one key, say of the butler, would unlock the front door.

"Not at all," he replied. "The locks are all arranged in suites. The butler can unlock all the doors that are in his department, and the housekeeper can unlock the linen closets and other doors under her supervision, but she cannot get into the butler's domain. And in every other department about the place from end to end every one has his or her key, but I have only the master key. All of the doors open to me. My valet can open my dressing case and closets but he cannot get a bottle of wine. Of course, the arrangements in a seal ring is novel, but it is very handy for me. In the first place I cannot lose it, and in the second place everything opens to me without asking a question."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FELL FROM A SCAFFOLD.

From the Herald, Watertown, N. Y. John Young, of Le Roy, N. Y., is 72 years old, and is well known in that and neighboring towns. While putting some weather boards on a barn, standing on a scaffold twenty-two feet from the ground, he felt dizzy, lost his balance and fell to the ground. The side of his face, arm and one entire side of his body, on which he struck, were badly bruised. Picked up and carried to the house, he was under a doctor's care for several weeks. The doctor finally came to the conclusion that his patient had received a stroke of paralysis and was beyond medical aid. He could not use one arm, or turn over in bed.

One day, while lying on the bed, he read of a case of something like his having been cured with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. He coaxed his granddaughter to get him a box of the pills. After that box had been used he secured another. In three weeks he began to feel a little life in his arm; at the end of four he could move his fingers; and of two months he could walk. Three months he could shave himself with the injured arm.

As he told his story in the Herald office, he looked the perfect picture of health. He carries a box of the pills in his pocket, and whenever he does not feel just right he takes them. They cured him after doctors had given him up, and his death was daily expected.

All the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves are contained, in a condensed form in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. ### A Moving Mountain.

There is a mountain of dark brown basalt on the Columbia River nearly two thousand feet in height and stretching along the stream for six or eight miles. When the white settlers first came into the country, the Indians told him this mountain was traveling; that some day it would move across the Columbia and form a lake which would reach from the cascades to the Palles. What the Indians said has been found true in some respects. The mountain is in motion. Its movement is forward and downward. The railroad builders who constructed their line along the base found the tracks continually forced out of place. In some places the movement has amounted to eight and ten feet in a few years. Geologists attribute the phenomenon to the fact that the mountain rests on a substratum of conglomerate, or a soft sandstone, which is steadily being washed away by the current of the big river.—New York Tribune.

The growth of a stronger race is due to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is the best medicine for costiveness, dyspepsia, fever, age, and all nervous troubles. Try one bottle.

Skull Painting.

A strange custom, dating back to the dark ages, has survived in some of the mountain districts in Austria—the painting of skulls. The small size of most cemeteries in those regions makes it necessary to regularly remove the skeletons of the buried who have lain there eight or ten years, to make room for newcomers. The relatives of the dead thus exhumed are generally notified before the removal, so that they can attend to the cleaning of the skeleton and be present at its deposit in the so-called "bonehouse" or "carnel-house." On such occasions the skull is often ornamented with paintings, or it is marked with the name of the dead person.
